Officers from the Kincardine and Mearns (K&M) Community Policing Team, supported by our colleagues from Roads Policing continue to carry out high visibility patrols and speed checks across the K&M area. This is in response to concerns raised by the local communities around speeding and inappropriate driving. Officers continue to engage with all road users to promote road safety and where offences are detected will deal proportionately with those who choose to put others at risk. Disappointingly over the past 48 hours officers have had cause to speak with / educate 12 motorists, issue 5 fixed penalties and report 2 road users to the courts for various offences from speeding, no insurance, careless driving and driving whilst using a mobile phone.

Constable Howie from Stonehaven Police Office states 'Road Safety is and continues to be a priority for us all and we will continue to deal with those committing offences in a proportionate manner. I would appeal to all road users to drive safely and considerately, putting your own and others safety at the forefront of your driving / road use.'

The Kincardine and Mearns Community Policing Team has implemented uniformed and plain clothes patrols in the evening within their areas of Aberdeenshire in an effort to address and deter instances of Anti-Social Behavior.

Police Constable McEwen had this to say "It is such a shame that a small minority of people act in such a way that cause distress and upset to members of the community here. I have been running these operations since summer and will continue to do so . If anyone observes any anti social behaviour within their community we insist you contact Police Scotland on 101 or 999 if serious in nature. We will continue to work closely within the community so please keep us informed. "
